But if. Ah me! on coming home.

When summer days are done,

We miss from the accustomed place

A dear familiar one.

How sorrowful the meeting then, How full of grief, and pain, And longing for the vanished form,

That ne'er will come again. God pity all such homes that bow
In mourning o'er their dead,
And grant that every wounded heart
Be soothed and comforted.
God pity these—and when the veil Is rent for evermore, Give each a happy coming home Upon the other shore. Lena Jeanette Walk, in Christian Work.

Suggestions How to Find Relief from Such Suffering.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Menstruation is a severe strain on a woman's vitality. If it is painful or irregular something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to a serious derangement of the whole female organism.

More than fifty thousand women have testified in grateful letters to Mrs. Pinkham that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound overcomes painful and irregular menstruation.

It provides a safe and sure way of escape from distressing and dargerous weaknesses and diseases.

The two following letters tell so convincingly what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rests upon the well-earned gratitude of American women. They cannot fail to bring hope to thousands of sufferers.
